MOURNING DAY PROCLAIMED IN BIG OHIO CITY

Cleveland Bows Head As Funerals Are Held For Victims

DEATH LIST NOW STANDS AT 122

Many Still In Critical Condition From Gas Fumes

Cleveland, May 18.—Wheels of industry and the business of a great city to a standstill today while funerals were held for 36 of the more than 120 victims of the Cleveland gas disaster.

Major John D. Marshall officially proclaimed this a day for mourning and requested that so far as possible public and other business be curtailed to permit general observance.

In an hour of suffering the city, going up bravely under the strain of its greatest calamity since 165 children were burned to death in a Colwood school fire 20 years ago, received messages of condolence from nations, rulers and other sympathizers the world over.

The whole country shares in the sorrow which has come to your city at the tragic death of so many," President Hoover wired. "Mrs. Hoover and I send our deep sympathy to those bereaved by the terrible disaster."

France Sends Sympathy.

France, remembering Cleveland as the home of an American it loved well, the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, expressed its sympathy through Paul Claudel its ambassador in Washington, and from England by wireless telephone, came at country's condolences.

One of the first messages received came from Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, voicing the name of Pope Pius XI. Dr. George W. Crile, founder of the Clinic, received a letter from Arthur J. Brothers, New York, inclosing a check for $150, to be used as he saw fit.

Even funerals were held yesterday and a number of other victims, unable to return to their homes in different cities, were to be buried today or tomorrow.

Elimination of unverified names from the fatality list at police headquarters has reduced the known

SALEM MAN AIDS IN CLINIC WORK

Ordered To Doctor For Treatment As Results Of Gas Fumes

James C. Ewing, 25, of 110 Liberty st., assisted in rescue work done at the Cleveland Clinic hospital distister, and was one of the first of the group of volunteer rescuers to arrive on the scene of the explosion.

Ewing was 2 blocks from the hospital, when he noticed smoke issuing from it. He rushed to the building, and arrived there together with the first Cleveland fire department truck. Entering the building, he and several firemen carried bodies from the elevator shaft, until they were forced to leave.

Ewing received a wire today from Cleveland doctors to immediately place himself under a doctor's care, it being feared that the gases effects may be fatal.

Fine Spring Weather Beckons to Hoover

Washington, May 18.—Fine spring weather lured President Hoover away from his desk today, and after an hour's work at his office, he called the White House automobiles and motored 100 miles down into Virginia for a day of fishing.

The day's outing is to be made at the headwaters of the Rapidan river, just outside the Shenandoah National Park about 12 miles from Madison court house. Marines have been at work at this site for several weeks building a road through the woods and preparing a location for camp site.

ANXIETY REIGNS WHEN ZEPPELIN MOTORS DIE; MAN ASKS PARACHUTE

Giant Airship Tosses In Historic Mistral Which Temps Heat of Valley; Landing Made Near Sea At Famous French Dirigible Port

By Franklin Nicholson
Toulon, France, May 18.—After a night and a day filled with more thrills and excitement than the average person encounters in an entire lifetime, most of the passengers from the German dirigible "Graf Zeppelin" are resting at the Grand hotel here today, preparing to leave for Paris or to return to Friedrichshafen.

The rooms and corridors of the hotel buzzed until the early hours of the morning with the conversation of the passengers, who a short time before faced what at times seemed certain death when the Zeppelin fought its way with four of its five motors crippled against the twisting wind so characteristic of the Rhone valley.

This wind is called the "mistral." French writers from time immemorial have spoken of it in their works as a bracing, fragrant breeze that tempers the heat of the sun in this beautiful valley.

But no longer will we see anything of romance in the "mistral." It came too close to causing the deaths of all of us.

Motor Crankshafts Break
It is difficult to recount briefly and in chronological order what happened in those hectic hours after the discovery of two broken crankshafts caused us to retrace our course to Friedrichshafen after having covered almost 1,000 miles of the outward journey.

The first indication the passengers had that anything was wrong was when both motors on the right side of the ship went dead.

At the time, I was in the control foot.

If it rains hard enough to make gumbo of the turf, a big swing of sentiment to Clyde Van Dusen is to be expected. Blue Larksprur, according to the Bradley interests is a good mudder too. But he hasn't proved that chocolate pudding is his favorite footing and Clyde Van Dusen has. And if there is anything a proxy for some state, some section and some land beyond the seas. Of all the great events on the sport calendar, only one is truly cosmopolitan in character and it will be held at Churchill Downs late afternoon.

Twenty-six of the country's great thoroughbred three-year-olds were nominated in the overnight entries, no empty honor in itself. But to the man in the street of the Paddock, the infield and the stands and to the millions who will see the race only through the eyes of another over a tremendous hook-up of radio stations, there will be only two horses in the race, Blue Larksprur, pride of Blue Grass breeding, and Clyde Van Dusen, sponsored by the east but the product of a middle western environment.

By the time the Kentucky derby—the race of all races—goes on about five o'clock central standard time, the world will be at the doorstep of the downs, eighty thousand and virtually each of them a proxy for some state, some section and some land beyond the seas. Of all the great events on the sport calendar, only one is truly cosmopolitan in character and it will be held at Churchill Downs late afternoon.

Twenty-six of the country's great thoroughbred three-year-olds were nominated in the overnight entries, no empty honor in itself. But to the man in the street of the Paddock, the infield and the stands and to the millions who will see the race only through the eyes of another over a tremendous hook-up of radio stations, there will be only two horses in the race, Blue Larksprur, pride of Blue Grass breeding, and Clyde Van Dusen, sponsored by the east but the product of a middle western environment.

However, good horses run well under all conditions and if the two favorites aren't good, they have otherwise deceived a lot of people.

Other good ones that are certain to go to the post, barring accidents, are Naishapur, winner of the Juana derby; Voltear, a horse with great closing speed; Karl Eitel, Windy City, winner of the derby trial, and Minotaur, beaten a nose in the sneakiness.

HOOVER WINS SENATE TILT

Bitter Fight Behind Closed Door Ends With Appointment of Judge Recommended

Washington, May 18.—President Hoover has the satisfaction today of having won his first victory in the Senate.

By a vote of 42 to 27, the senate confirmed the nomination of Irvine L. Lenroot, former senator from Wisconsin, as a judge on the U. S. court of claims—an act which the senate refused Calvin Coolidge in the closing days of his administration.

Lenroot was confirmed, however, after a bitter fight that went on for hours behind closed doors.

Senators Norris (R) of Nebraska, and a coalition of independent Republicans and Democrats opposed the former senator because of his investigation.

The disaster has proved the folly of storing large supplies of combustible X-ray films in the same building with patients and physicians, said Dr. W. D. McNally, Chicago health commission toxicologist.

He advocates that such materials be stored in isolated buildings where the damage from combustion would be confined locally. Other scientists joined in this belief, and it appeared that recommendations to that effect would be the outcome of their investigation.

Degrees Awarded

Two candidates were given the first and second degrees at a meeting of the Goshen grange Friday evening at the hall, northwest of Salem.

Mahoning county Pomona grange will meet at Greenford next Saturday.

At a meeting in two weeks the third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

TRACTION CAR STRIKE FACES CLEVELANDERS

Trolley Service Tie - Up Looms With Action Of Workers

Columbus, O., May 18.—Fire gutted the woolen mills building inside the walls of the Ohio state penitentiary here early yesterday evening and did damage estimated at more than $100,000.

Three alarms were turned in, and police and guards off duty were hurriedly summoned to guard the prisoners and the walls in event of an attempted escape.

The convicts, though evidencing great excitement, did not become unmanageable.

Fire Marshals Active

State fire marshals are to conduct a check today.

Falling slate struck W. A. Welcker, a city fireman, and he suffered a scalp wound.

Situated in the northwestern portion of the big penitentiary yard, the woolen mills structure was isolated from other buildings. Firemen took precaution, however, and wetted roofs and walls of nearby structures.

Fed by stacks of wool, the fire burned for two hours and completely gutted the building, damaging it so badly that it will have to be rebuilt.

More than 350 convicts were laboring in the building an hour before the fire was discovered by two trustees, Sidney Van Gunten, Toledo life-terminer, and Charles Bard, Cincinnati life-terminer.

Prison officials declared they were certain the fire was not of incendiary origin. Warden P. E. Thomas was on hand at the time of the fire.

The convicts, though evidencing great excitement, did not become unmanageable.

Somebody in city hall knew all about it long before Capone and his bodyguard, Frank "Chicago" Cline, were "pinched" and sent up, the underworld believes.

All came here deliberately and planned everything that would lead him into a courtroom where some judge might aid his scheme, according to the story as related by the underworld.

Possibly Capone thought, however, he would get off with a three-month term instead of one year.

Attention at the mass meetings for adoption of a resolution to run no car after midnight Sunday if a contract were not signed by then was squelched by the conservatives.

PAUL VON HINDENBURG

Paul Von Hindenburg, Germany's soldier-statesman, makes the announcement, at the age of 81, that he will retire in 1932, upon the expiration of his present term of office as president of the German republic. He wishes to settle down on his estate at Hanover, to live out the last days of a life that has been a mighty factor in conducting the affairs of Germany through the turbulent and dangerous period.

Hindenburg is the logical and the only logical candidate for the German Nationalist party in the next presidential election. His unique position as a leader who has retained the respect of his countrymen through the grim disasters of the World war and the hectic reconstruction period is sufficient reason to think that he was the only strong candidate in the field. Hindenburg was a national idol before he ran for office and now, nearing the completion of his term, he is more of a hero in the eyes of the people than before. No greater test can be made of a man's character than power and Hindenburg has emerged, after years of service, unscathed.

Hindenburg is an old man. He may go to his rest before he completes his term. His plans have been disturbed before and it is possible that he has waited too long before starting his retirement. Previous to the opening of the World war, he settled down on his estate to retire and was called into service as commander of his country's military forces. At the close of the war, there were difficulties calling for the guidance of a great leader. Hindenburg's retirement was delayed a few more years. It is difficult for the great to escape duty.

There is a possibility that he sees the danger of remaining in the saddle too long. He may want to see his successor established in the confidence of his people. He may see the danger of placing too much confidence in one leader whose death might precipitate a dangerous situation in a country with affairs unsettled as those of Germany are. His rest, if he has not waited too long, would be a wise action under those conditions.

Germany is in dire need of more natural leaders of Von Hindenburg's calibre. It is to be hoped that they will arise to lead a great country through a crucial period in its history.

What Others Say

MR HUGHES SPEAKS.

In his address to the American Society of International Law, Mr. Charles Evans Hughes presented a very judicious view of the relation of the United States to the World court and the League of Nations. In brief, the contention of Mr. Hughes was that the United States is compelled by the facts of international life to recognize the existence of established methods of settling international disputes in a pacific manner and can not decently avoid close contacts with such international agencies. He did much to clarify the World court situation, indicating without equivocation that the court is not going to take orders from the league, to the detriment of this country.

Mr. Hughes' party has since 1920 been unalterably opposed to American participation in the League of Nations. It remains thus. But cooperation is increasing each year until today we are virtually an associate member. Through the medium of the Kellogg pact and our probable entrance into the World court, we have reached a working arrangement which gives us the advantage of league membership without the dangerous responsibilities that would ordinarily accompany it.

The point that Mr. Hughes has been attempting to drive home to the American people for eight years is simply that the United States can not afford to scorn established agencies for international cooperation. A peaceful world regime is too important to us. So he urges close cooperation with the league and the World court dealing with these institutions as convenient groups, rather than the clumsy device of dealing with nations individually, as was the case before the late war. No less distinguished a public figure than Mr. Hughes could say this and "get by with it." Coming from him, it will perhaps bear fruit in future American foreign policy.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SIMPLE PRIMARY ILLS OFTEN LEAD TO GRIEF

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

(United States Senator from New York)

To the layman there is no more disturbance than to fear the presence of Bright's disease. The ailment used to be so fatal that everybody came to dread it.

The fact is that this disease is less serious than the things that cause it. By this I mean that it just happens to be the kidneys that are made to bear the brunt of an attack that might as well have been directed against some other part of the body.

You see, Bright's disease is not what the doctors call a "primary" disease. It is always secondary to a disturbance somewhere else in the body.

There are two types of Bright's disease, the acute and the chronic. The chronic form may exist a long time before it is suspected.

This ailment is named after Dr. Bright, who first described it. It is really an inflammation of the kidney or of the important parts of the kidney.

There is an old-fashioned idea that Bright's disease is the result of excessive meat eating. No informed person believes that today. At least nine times out of ten it comes from an infection or poison.

You may recall that many times children who have had scarlet fever may have kidney trouble following it. Indeed, any one of the infectious or contagious diseases may generate body poisons which will cause an inflammation of the kidney.

Most of us fall to have just the respect we should have for acute tonsillitis. I regard it as a disease which should be included among the infections. It is likely to run almost as definite a course as scarlet fever or typhoid fever.

Of course, I do not mean it has the symptoms of these diseases, but what I have in mind is the fact that it runs a very definite course. What led me to speak about it today is that inflammation of the kidney may follow acute tonsillitis, just as it does scarlet fever.

I had my way the expectant mother would never have any uncomfortable symptoms. Unfortunately, payment or finances, but all new ventures should be undertaken only after due deliberation and wise counsel. Safeguard against the stated losses. A child born on this day may have some unusual talents, but these it may not wisely apply, being restless and prone to run counter to superiors or employers.

For Monday, May 20

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a particularly active state of affairs with a tendency to promote new contracts, agreements and projects with zeal and much sagacity. And while these may succeed through the background of hard labor, steadfastness and stability, yet they are beset with a menace of subtlety or craft, unless extreme precaution be exercised.

Domestic social and romantic relations may engage the attention and bring much happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may be followed by uremia. These may be followed by uremia.

This is the word used to describe the severe headaches, great restlessness, convulsions and delirium which accompany the uremic attack. There may be temporary blindness, dizziness and even loss of consciousness.

I have not told you about this disease to frighten you. I have done it with a view to making you realize how important it is not to neglect influenza, the infectious diseases, tonsillitis and any other acute ailment. The primary condition may be of little consequence, but if it is neglected there may be serious kidney involvement.

STORK SPEEDIER THAN AIRPLANE

Traditional Bird Defeats Plane In Race From Indianapolis To City In Ohio

Toledo, O., May 16.—The stork grinded in derision here and if the bird had any fingers he would more than likely wiggle them at the airplane, for he beat mode of aerial transportation in a race yesterday.

Earl S. Twinning of the engineering department of a spark plug company was in Indianapolis representing his concern in the annual auto race there. He was informed by telephone that he was to have an heir. Twinning commanded the airplane of Dick Dodd, Indianapolis millionaire sportsman, and hoped off for this city. It took him only about two hours to reach here, but when he arrived home the little Twinning had already arrived.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER PARTY

"MOTHER and Daughter Friendship" was discussed by Miss Isabel Latimer, of Youngstown, director of religious education in the federated churches. Youngstown, in a talk at a Mother-Daughter supper party Friday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Miss Latimer pointed out that "if the door between mother and daughter ever closes it is very hard to open."

This party was given by the young peoples classes of the church and Miss Dorothy Cobb was chairman of the entertainment committee and was toastmistress at the supper. There were 150 in the company.

The room was prettily decorated in red and white and the tables were adorned with valley lilies and tulips. Miss Helen Koontz gave a talk on "Our Guiding Friend," speaking for the daughters, and Mrs. Hannah Maule, representative of the mothers, talked on "Our Companions on the Road."

John Hundertmark, Jr., contributed a violin solo and was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. J. W. Hundertmark. Mrs. Harold Babb offered two piano solos. Songs were sung by the group and the program concluded with a candle service in charge of Miss Theda Justice.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON CLUB. Mrs. H. V. Zimmerman delightedly entertained associates of the Friday Afternoon Bridge club at a breakfast Friday at the Quaker Tea House, McKinley ave. The table was decorated in purple iris and candles.

After the meal the hostess took the guests to Youngstown to the show. A meeting of the club in two weeks will be with Mrs. Omar Rinehart, Cleveland ave.

BACHELOR GIRLS CLUB. Mrs. Louis Laurain entertained members of the Bachelor Girls club Friday evening at her home, Woodland ave. The time was spent playing bridge and a two course lunch was served by the hostess. Prizes in the games went to Miss Beulah Carnes and Miss Elizabeth Ward. Miss Ward of Sebring and Miss Margaret Carnes of Salem were invited guests.

On May 31, Miss Dorothy Dougher will be hostess to the club members.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glasser of Cleveland are spending the week end with Dr. and Mrs. T. T. Church, Lincoln ave. Mrs. Glasser was formerly Miss Fannie Larson of Salem.

Mrs. Nora Burson, this city, attended Columbian county Pomona grange Saturday at Wayne township grange hall, six miles from Lisbon.

WOMAN TO HEAR FATE ON MONDAY

Jury Will Probably Give Verdict On That Day; Court Not In Session Today.

Canton, O. May 18—Mrs. Maeve Guerrieri, 27, on trial here charged with first degree murder in the slaying of the Rev. Fr. Joseph Ricardi, must wait until Monday to learn her fate. There was no court session today.

The priest was shot to death March 10, in the vestibule of St. Anthony's church. Witnesses for the prosecution disproved the woman's story that the priest had mistreated her five year old daughter, Palmena.

HONOR GUESTS. For the pleasure of her house guests, Misses Gwendola Morris and Frances Bettie of Chagrin Falls, Miss Eleanor Tolerton, East High st, entertained at a luncheon-bridge Saturday at the Quaker Tea House, McKinley ave.

CRAWFORD-GUY. Thomas Walter Guy, of Lisbon, and Kate Crawford, also of Lisbon have returned from New Cumberland, W. Va., where they were married. Mr. Guy was formerly engaged in operating a coal property on the Leetonia-Lisbon road.

JOLLY GIRLS. Jolly Girls of Emanuel Lutheran church had a meeting Wednesday evening at the church. Plans of interest to the members were discussed. The next meeting will be held May 22.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY. A called meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the chapel. All members are asked to be present.

Mrs. Caleb Arner and Mrs. Mabel Sheen of Millville attended the Mothers and Daughters banquet Friday evening at the Presbyterian church in Salem.

CLINIC. (Continued from Page 1) dead to 122. An accurate list is difficult to compile because many bodies were taken direct to their homes from hospitals, others went first to the morgue and to funeral parlors, and still others died in their homes.

JONES LAST TO DIE. There have been no fatalities in hospitals since noon yesterday. The last name added to the list was that of the football player, Ben Jones, who drove to his home in Grove City, Pa., believing he had not been affected seriously by the deadly gas, only to succumb later.

Many Still Critical. Although Dr. William E. Lower, one of the founders of the clinic, said that patients who had survived the effects of the nitrogen peroxide and carbon monoxide gas this long, should recover, many of the 50 in hospitals were reported in critical condition.

The gasses were generated by the combustion of x-ray films which caught fire in a manner yet to be learned in the clinic basement. There was enough film in the basement, W. P. Yant, of the U. S. Bureau of mines, Pittsburgh, said, to produce 50,000 cubic feet of gas in the building.

Coroner A. J. Pearce and his aides visited the ruins again today with county Prosecutor Ray Miller and Gen. H. L. Gilchrist, of the War Department, who is here in an unofficial capacity, studying the effects of the gas.

Coroner Pearce said his investigation would not get under way in earnest until next week, because until then his time will be taken up chiefly in rounding up witnesses.

Mrs. Rose Reber, a charwoman told the coroner she frequently saw persons smoking near the x-ray film storeroom, but no evidence had been uncovered that would indicate anyone had been smoking there immediately before the fire and explosion.

"Our investigation hasn't developed much valuable information thus far," said the coroner, "but we intend to press it vigorously next week."

ZEPPELIN

Two Engines Die. Then, suddenly and without warning, two more engines went dead, leaving but one on the port side functioning.

I was ordered back into the main salon with the other passengers, who were unaware of the gravity of the situation. It appeared inevitable that we must descend sooner or later. Suddenly I experienced the strange sensation of the ship hanging absolutely motionless in mid-air.

That romantic "mystal" had come to be nothing more or less than a heart-breaking headwind, holding back our progress, and exerting just the same force that the crippled ship could muster with the sole remaining motor.

Then came a few terrible minutes of violent pitching and tossing, the other passengers not realizing exactly what had happened nor appreciating the possibility that we might crash at any moment.

Then official announcement was made by Dr. Eckener that all but one motor was gone, and that we must try a forced landing.

The news caused great consternation among some of the passengers, but Mrs. Mary Pierce, the charming New Yorker who was the only woman aboard, was the most composed of all.

One of the passengers calmly asked Dr. Eckener if he could jump overboard with a parachute. He said he preferred this to the uncertainty of drifting for hours in a crippled ship.

Dr. Eckener refused permission however, feeling certain that he could make a safe landing somewhere.

There was little for us to do while Dr. Eckener and his capable aides worked like Trojans to keep the zeppelin on a course, and prevent it being thrown entirely out of control by the strong winds. But this inactivity made the tension worse, so Mrs. Clark and I, accompanied by Commander Clark of the United States Naval Dirigible Los Angeles, made a tour of the mechanical part of the ship.

The commanding officers had given their permission, so while we waited philosophically for the crash which seemed certain to come, we wandered about amid the many gas bags which fill the inside of the ship, and up spider-web ladders to the very top of the bag.

Ship Begins To Pitch. Presently the zeppelin began pitching terribly, and we made our way back to the cabin. Pots and pans in the kitchen went rattling about with a terrific din, and about that time, the dirigible swooped low over a little French town, and twice it seemed inevitable that we should bring up against the side of a mountain nearby. Each time, however, we threw out water ballast, and climbed out of danger.

For a considerable time, Dr. Eckener had been advising the French government of the airship's pitch by radio, and he had just decided to ask permission to land at Cuers when a message came from the French air ministry inviting our commander to try and make that.

An efficient ground crew would be waiting to take the ship down, the radio said.

With masterly navigation, Dr. Eckener brought the zeppelin to a higher altitude, and aided by a tail wind we headed toward Cuers. All that lay between us and destruction was one motor, throbbing faithfully to help us maintain some degree of equilibrium in the incessant gale.

List At Great Angle.

At times we listed at an angle of 45 degrees, and that motor was all that kept us from being pitched about and carried completely out of control like a free balloon.

Then, to make matters worse, trouble developed in the radio, and Dr. Eckener made pitiful attempts to keep the world advised of our difficulties by dropping notes weighted and ballast, money and detailed instructions as to their transmission by telegraph to the ground below.

And still we drifted, turning and tossing as the wind screamed about our ears. It seemed that our load of trouble and difficulty was complete, but even now another ominous sound was heard—the irregular pul-ing of the passengers calmly asked Dr. Eckener if he could jump overboard with a parachute. He said he preferred this to the uncertainty of drifting for hours in a crippled ship.

sations which indicated that the last remaining motor, strained beyond its capacity by its heavy task, was failing too.

Dr. Eckener ordered that everyone take up stations inside the gas bag, as it seemed we could remain aloft no longer, and a sudden crash was bound to crush the cabin and that was it.

But suddenly, out of the falling dusk, loomed the lights of the Cuers Naval Air Station, and we knew that salvation had come at last. It was the work of less than half an hour to get the dirigible to the ground when the gas bag had been dropped to the capable crew of 300 that had been assembled to aid us, and almost before we knew it, we found ourselves on solid land again.

There was little delay with the French officials to arrange a landing and this proved to be the case.

FIRE

Plan New Structure

He declared after the fire, that the plans already under way for a new mill would be rushed.

This is the second big fire to sweep Ohio state penitentiary property within the week.

The Junction City brick plant was destroyed by fire in the early part of the week, shortly after some 400 prisoners had been housed in the dormitories for the night. Damage of $50,000 was done there.

Meanwhile, approximately 800

prisoners are "out of work."

Last night's conflagration recalls the fire of 1889 within the walls of the penitentiary, when an older mill burned to the ground. The building destroyed last night had been built in 1886 to replace the first structure.

Warden Thomas praised city firemen for their labors.

Origin of the fire was said to have been due to defective wiring, but a further check today may reveal another cause.

Corso Fruits Open Baseball Season At Placentia Lake Sunday

Hard Practice Results In Classy Aggregation For Salem This Season

The Corso Fruits, alias the Schafer Billiards and Salem Cubs, will open their baseball season Sunday afternoon, meeting the strong Lake Placentia outfit, at the lake, near North Georgetown. The Fruits, Salem's lone representatives in regulation independent baseball, are placed in the field this year by Joseph Corso, manager of the Sunskit fruit market.

The aggregation was formerly known as the Schafer Billiards, and last year had the worst season in its history. Hard practices held every night at Centennial park, despite the poorness of the field's condition, has rounded the team out in fine shape, and a classy outfit is promised for Salem by George "Sim" Early, the team's manager.

Placentia last year whipped the Salemites twice, once in a finely-played 10-contest, and boasts a fine collection of ballists from Alliance, Sebring, North Georgetown and Hanoverton. The game will get under way at 2:30.

Earley, Lefty Bradt, and Chet Drakulich, formerly of Monaca, Pa., will compose the combine's hurling corps, with Earley and Drakulich being slated for the brunt of the season's slab work due to Bradt's ailing southpaw. Either Early or the Monaca hurler will shoot them in tomorrow.

Lee Christen, former Salem High grid luminary, is the only other newcomer on the squad, and will start at first base, the team's main weakness last season. Mike Sartick has been shifted from catch to third base, and will guard the hot section of the diamond against the lake aggregation. Frankie Corso, second

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, you owe it to yourself to learn the true extent of Chevrolet's value leadership. And all you need to do is check the new Chevrolet Six against any other car—value for value and price for price!

Here, in the price range of the four, is offered a smooth, powerful, six-cylinder valve-in-head motor—which delivers better than 29 miles to the gallon of gasoline—and whose smooth, quiet, velvety operation, with its complete lack of drumming and vibration, is a revelation—even to those who are accustomed to driving high-priced automobiles. Here are beautiful bodies by Fisher. Here, in all closed models, are fitments by Ternstedt . . . rich, deep-tufted upholsteries . . . adjustable driver's seat . . . and a completely-equipped instrument panel. And throughout the entire chassis are found numerous examples of advanced engineering—such as quiet, non-locking 4-wheel brakes . . . ball bearing steering mechanism . . . automatic acceleration pump . . . and chromium plating on all bright metal.

But no mere recital of features can give you any conception of Chevrolet's value leadership. So we urge you to come in and see for yourself why over 500,000 people have chosen the new Chevrolet Six since January 1st!

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Oho Crop Badly Damaged State Experts at Wooster Station: May Drop Later

Wooster, O., May 18—Considerable damage to the apple crop was done by cold weather in Ohio Thursday night according to the Ohio State Experiment Station at the Ohio State experiment station here.

If the apples were not killed outright a "heavy drop" later on may reduce the crop materially, they said.

Temperatures over the state was reported ranging from 28 to 38 degrees, the former temperature being recorded here.

By a "heavy drop" the horticulturists declared they meant that the apples would fall from the trees.

Two singing and talking features appear on the week's program at the Grand and Royal theaters next week. Al Jolson coming to the former in "The Jazz Singer," with George Jessel at the Royal in "Lucky Boy."

On par with these two productions are several other attractions billed in the city. Jeanne Eagels coming Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "The Letter"; Jack Mullhall and Dorothy Mackall in "Two Weeks Off"; Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and "The Trial of Mary Dugan" for three days at the Grand.

"Lucky Boy" features Jessel's famous voice, just as does "The Jazz Singer" with the noted "mammy singer." It is both songsters' initial talkie, Jolson's being brought here by popular demand. "Lucky Boy" has not been on the market as long as the Jolson picture, but has won a wide range of popularity during its short existence.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" is heralded every place as one of the greatest mystery pictures ever screened. With Norma Shearer playing the leading feminine role and Lewis Stone and H. B. Warner leading males, and the entire plot an atmosphere of mystery and colorful action, it is undoubtedly the week's best.

"The Letter" Jeanne Eagels, the famous temperamental actress plays a great part in "The Letter," being characterized as the disappointed wife of a rubber plantation owner, fascinated deeply by another man, who spurns her. The result is dramatically impressive; the court trial in which Miss Eagels is tried, her repeated efforts at lying, her slurs at the victim's character, bring her to the front as the greatest actress of the talkie realm.

Jack Mullhall and Miss Mackall are cast in excellent roles in their feature, which is at the State the latter three days of the week, and is overshadowed in prominence only through the excellence of the other great shows of the week.

Jessel sings "My Mother's Eyes" in "Lucky Boy," in somewhat the same manner that has won Jolson his fame through the "Mammy Song." He is shown as lad, eager for stage prominence, who ventures on a stage career through a production of his own. Unable to scrape up funds at the last minute, the owners of the theater where he is to put it on, refuse to permit him to stage the show, and disappointed, he leaves New York and goes west.

He participates in an amateur show in the west, and immediately wins fame. But the pitfalls are still there, and tears are many, before the final happy clinch is reached, and mother and son become reunited, together with the new wife.

Structure Used Now Is Fire Trap; Change In Few Days

Columbus, O., May 18.—The Hartman building, now housing the state highway department and the state industrial commission, and regarded by high state officials as a "fire trap" will be vacated within the next few days and the state divisions will move into the Pure Oil building on North High st., here, on which a two-year lease, at $48,000 a year, was taken by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper today.

Prompted by the appalling Cleveland clinic disaster in which at least 120 persons lost their lives, Governor Cooper and Finance Director Harry D. Silver, completed negotiations for the lease yesterday and it was signed by those officials today.

Five floors of the Pure Oil building have been leased.
